MAGISTRATE-ELECT 4TH. DIST. KILLED

Accidentally Shot Sunday Night by Jacob Olejniczak.

Leslie Brice, newly elected magistrate for the Fourth District of Fulton County, died Monday morning between two and three o'clock as the result of a wound accidentally inflicted by Jacob Olejniczak Sunday night at about seven o'clock.

The tragedy occurred at the store of Lattus Bros. in the lower portion. According to an account of the shooting given by a member of the shooting party, a member of the party, Olejniczak, was in the store when Brice walked in and asked for a cigarette. Olejniczak reached up on a shelf and got a box of cigarettes and saying "I'll give you a cigarette" discharged the gun accidentally, the shot entering Brice in the left side just above the hip puncturing his bladder and entering the stomach where it lodged. Brice fell back in the arms of Ben Lattus, a brother-in-law, who held him on the floor. The sight of the injured man enraged Lattus who said to Olejniczak: "You can't kill my brother-in-law" whereupon the latter ran. He is reported to have come to Hickman and had supper and breakfast at Ben Lattus' cafe. He had not been seen up to the time of the funeral, except on the two occasions at meals. Brice said before he died that they were the best of friends and the shooting was accidental.

Brice was removed to his home and Drs. J. C. Morrison, J. M. Hubbard and H. E. Bradburn and the county nurses, Mrs. Sims and Miss Tivens were summoned. An operation was performed in the hope of saving his life, but he died shortly after regaining consciousness from the anesthetic.

The funeral was held from the Catholic Church Tuesday morning. Father Sullivan conducted the services, and interment was had at the city cemetery. Olejniczak is a Polish, and has been in America only since the latter part of July.

Brice was an industrious and well liked young man among those who knew him, having been nominated by the Democratic party for Magistrate of the Fourth Magisterial District in August, and having been elected without opposition in the general election Tuesday of last week. His death will necessitate the appointment of a magistrate to fill his place in the fiscal court of the county by Governor Morrow.

KENTUCKY TEAM WILL COMPETE

Will Send Team of Five Students to Chicago Exposition.

Kentucky's interest in the students' five stock judging contest to be held Nov. 20, in connection with the Chicago International Live Stock Exposition will be well taken care of by a team of five students from the college of agriculture, University of Kentucky, according to L. J. Horbach, a member of the college animal husbandry staff and coach of the squad.

Results of the practice sessions already held indicate that the squad is stronger than the one which represented Kentucky in the contest last year, while a number of additional practices have been scheduled in order to give the team the best possible preparation.

Members of the team which will represent Kentucky include Frank J. Wicksomper, Louisville; William H. Howell, Greensburg; J. W. Chandler, Van Cleave, Cave City; William G. Finn, Burlington, and Clyde Watts, Harrodsburg.

YEARS SEASONS FAVORABLE TO THE FARMERS HERE

The past year for the cultivation and harvesting of crops in this end of the county has been unsurpassed and was possibly done with less labor than in years before. The lack of rain in the summer prevented the weeds getting a start and hold on the cotton, not requiring the usual amount of chopping as when there is lots of rain and the weeds spring up overnight.

Those growing alfalfa had possibly the best year they have ever had for the cutting and saving of their hay, nearly every bit of the alfalfa cut this year being cut without a drop of rain on it. Oftentimes much of this crop is ruined by heavy rains falling after it is cut and before it can be stored in the barns. Most of the cotton crop has been gathered and with practically no rain to hinder the picking, and this has also applied to the corn crop, which is very large this year.

Frank Bluford, Ed Dickson and Mrs. H. G. Bluford returned to their home in Brownsville, Tenn., after a visit with J. O. Bluford and family.

SWEET POTATO ASSN. ORGANIZED

S. A. Wilson Elected First Head of Organization.

The Farm Bureau took the initiative and called a meeting Friday evening of a number of prominent farmers in and around Hickman for the purpose of considering the organization of a Sweet Potato Growers' Association. After having lunch together at the Lattus Bros. Hotel they retired to the Farm Bureau office and discussed the sweet potato proposition thoroughly, and as a result of that discussion a Sweet Potato Growers' Association was organized and a board of directors appointed. They are as follows:

S. A. Wilson, H. W. Whipple, Ernest Johnson, W. A. Johnston, Will Rice, and Hugh French. Others present were George Stahl, Chas. Nugent, J. W. Cross, J. W. Ward, C. E. Travis, H. Shaw and O. L. Cunningham.

The meeting was full of pep and the Association was launched with considerable interest. The meeting adjourned and the board of directors were called for a meeting Saturday at which the following officers were elected:

President, S. A. Wilson, Vice-President, A. G. Canibbers; Secretary and Treasurer, H. Whipple.

U. D. C. MEET.

The last meeting of the Daughters of Confederate Soldiers, Private Robert Tyler chapter, met with Miss Allie Dadds, with a large number of members attending. Kerlin, of Clinton, drove over and attended the meeting and Mrs. Arthur Shaw and Miss Letta Shaw, of State Line.

Judge Jess Nichols and wife, of Barfield spent Sunday with S. D. Stenbridge and wife.

$1 A YEAR OFFER CLOSED SATURDAY

New Subscriptions Numbering in Hundreds are Result of Drive.

The Courier's special offer of $1.00 a year for subscriptions to our paper was accepted during the two weeks of the offer by old and new subscribers numbering over 500. The time limit set on the offer was November 12, and therefore the Courier is now back at the regular price of $1.50 for the year. As soon as the expenses incurred from publishing a newspaper like The Courier have declined sufficiently to warrant it, the publishers will lower the price to a dollar a year permanently, but we are yet unable to do this. No one will be more pleased than we when this time comes and we assure our subscribers that whenever we believe that we are able to do so we shall lower the price permanently.

METHODIST PLAN DISTRICT COLLEGE

Proposal of Co-Educational School Meets With Hearty Approval.

Recommending Christian education as the only path leading to progress of America and the world toward ultimate peace and right thinking, Dr. J. H. Reynolds, president of Reynolds College, Conway, Ark., and director of the Southern Methodist educational conference, brought an audience of 100 conference delegates to their first in solid approval of a large program for the establishment of a co-educational Methodist college in the Memphis district.

Dr. Reynolds was the principal speaker of the evening at the first session of the eighty-second annual Memphis conference, which was held in the First Methodist Church, at McKenzie, Tenn., Bishop James Atkins, presiding.

American education is in danger of being dominated by a materialistic philosophy of life, said the speaker. We must realize that the spirit of Christ is the foundation for all education and without this spirit the world will be relegated to the woods of materialism. The Christian nations of the world must take concerted action to thwart a return to the dark ages of material conquest, which always has and always will cause destruction on earth. Christian education must go on to eternity.

Plans are under way to reopen the Methodist Conference Female Institute, for 75 years a monument to Southern Methodism in Jackson, Tenn., as a co-educational college for the training of young men for the ministry as well as to carry on a general academy program for both men and women. The college was closed a little more than a year ago. Report of the education secretary shows that 25 percent of the Memphis conference education quota of $1,022,000 has been subscribed.

This is regarded as favorable in view of the past year's financial conditions in Memphis territory.

LOCAL RED CROSS CHARTER REMOVED

Lack of Support Given as Chief Cause for Its Removal.

The charter of the local chapter of the Red Cross was withdrawn Saturday under the direction of the executive committee at Cleveland. Miss Margaret Wood, field representative of the American Red Cross, Lake Division, headquarters at Cleveland, was here Saturday under instructions from the executive committee seeing to its removal and helping the local officials in the business necessary to its removal.

According to Miss Wood, seeing the condition here, the executive committee of the Hickman Chapter and the headquarters of the Lake Division both felt that the charter should be returned and the remainder of the funds on hand, amounting to $384.63, be sent to headquarters. The removal was due to the inactivity of the local Red Cross, as a charter cannot be kept unless the chapter has active members, and no drive for members has been conducted here for some time. The removal of the Hickman charter leaves only one chapter in the county, that at Fulton.

Miss Wood made it plain, however, that in case of any disaster which might occur here, the Red Cross would be as prompt to respond to appeals for help as they would should a chapter be maintained here.

The local chapter of the Red Cross has been of great benefit to the city in many ways. One of the most important, perhaps, was that of beginning the public health nurse work here. It will be remembered that Mrs. Anna E. Sims, the present public health nurse, and the first nurse on the field here, came to Hickman first under the supervision of the Red Cross, the local chapter paying the expenses incidental to the work here. Since that time the health work has been unimpaired by state and county aid, but the start was made by the Red Cross and in this as well as in innumerable other ways this organization has been of immense value to the city. It is deplorable that the work could not be maintained here actively in the future.

Plans are under way to reopen the Methodist Conference Female Institute, for 75 years a monument to Southern Methodism in Jackson, Tenn., as a co-educational college for the training of young men for the ministry as well as to carry on a general academy program for both men and women. The college was closed a little more than a year ago. Report of the education secretary shows that 25 percent of the Memphis conference education quota of $1,022,000 has been subscribed.

This is regarded as favorable in view of the past year's financial conditions in Memphis territory.

BELIEVE LA CENTER HAS A FIREBUG

Postoffice and Two Business Houses Added to List of Losses.

It is the belief of citizens of LaCenter that a fire bug is active. The second fire of mysterious origin within a week early Friday morning destroyed the LaCenter postoffice, the Wilkenson vulcanizing shop and Mac McElroy's butcher shop. The loss is estimated at several thousand dollars with the damage only partially covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered in the rear of the one story frame building occupied by the postoffice and the Wilkenson vulcanizing shop. Before the volunteer firemen could check the progress the flames reached the McElroy's butcher shop. Jasper Peal, postmaster, stated that the mail received at LaCenter in the evening train was destroyed.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, as there had not been any fire in the postoffice for several days. Last week a vacant house owned by McElroy was burned by a fire of incendiary origin. Carlisle County News.

LEFT FOR HOME IN SYRIA.

Mrs. Mose Barkett and five children, accompanied by her nephew, Sam Barkett, left last Thursday for New York from which place they sailed on Tuesday, the 15th, for their former home in Jeddah, Syria. They will make the entire trip by water, requiring twenty days, and will land at Beyrouth, Syria, on or about Dec. 5th. If they have good weather and good luck, from there they will make the trip overland in auto to their home at Jeddah, which will require a day or two.

Mrs. Barkett arrived in this country fifteen years ago, landing here on Nov. 15th, and departing on the same date to return home, which is quite an unusual incident. Sam will return after a visit of 30 to 60 days with his mother and other relatives. They have been in this city for the past month and a half visiting A. S. Barkett and family.

LOW WATER AT LAKE HINDERS HUNTERS

Ducks are said to be very plentiful on the lake now but the hunters have found Reelfoot Lake lower than ever known before at the opening of the shooting season. Another foot of water would mean a great deal to the hunters and enable them to reach many places that are now too shallow to be reached by boats and too boggy to wade through. A large number of hunters from many different places have been at the lake since the season opened. The lake was unusually low during the early part of the summer and the long dry summer and exceedingly dry fall have caused it to be much lower.

The Art of Life.

The art of life is to keep step with the celestial orchestra that beats the measure of our career, and gives the cue for our exits and our entrances. Why should we willingly miss anything, or precipitate anything, or be angry with folly, or in despair at any misadventure? In this world there should be some but gentle tears, and fluttering lip-toe loves. It is a great carnival, and amongst these lights and shadows of comedy, these roses and vices of the playhouse, there is no hiding.—G. Santayana in the Dial.

WEAK, NERVOUS, ALL RUN-DOWN

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Rank Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams, describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. 'I saw after taking some Cardui ... that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person.'"

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night. I was so nervous and worn. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me ... My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams described, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

SEES WOMEN RULE WORLD

French Professor Makes Prophecy That May or May Not Cause Feelings of Alarm.

Old maids are going to rule the world within another generation, and when that happens all sensible men, looking for happy existences, will try to flee this earth and try out the planet Mars. This is the opinion of Professor Giroult, probably the best-known French authority in political economy, who addresses his beliefs to the University of Poitiers.

"Women are going to assume leadership, particularly in Europe, for the next hundred years," Professor Giroult says. "This does not mean that civilization is becoming effeminate, nor does it result simply from the fact that women will be numerically stronger. But there are too many women for the marriageable males and hundreds of thousands of them are being compelled to make ill-assorted marriages in which the man, in nearly every case, is the weaker partner."

"In that way women are gaining the ascendancy and it is a certainty that any society ruled by women will lack intellectual courage, logic and initiative. Women married to men who are their inferiors will become embittered with life. Their experience will discourage other women who are thinking of marriage. Presently we will find a whole body of women, with a large and active majority of unmarried women controlling things, and men will have a very unhappy time."

This Frog Has Homing Instinct.
This is the tale of a frog which beat its master home on a journey, traveling from Brooklyn to Ridgely, N. Y. A man who studied science and natural history, learned that frogs can be taught to have the homing instinct. To prove it he bred a tadpole into a full-grown bullfrog right in his own goldfish bowl, tied a string to its leg, attached a piece of paper with his name and address, took it down to the river and bade it farewell. The man went to the movies and out for dinner. When he returned, he says, the frog was croaking on the front doorstep. Whether it croaked by subway, elevated or car, or whether the long journey was made by leaps and hops, remains a mystery. Anyway, its owner says he knows now that frogs have developed a love of home.

About Pictures.

Nearly all houses have too many pictures. And yet, paradoxical as it may seem, the introduction of a new picture now and then is an excellent plan. What is needed is a drastic pruning in most homes, in which pictures that have no real merit are sent to the limbo of the attic, while new and worth while studies in color or black and white are hung on the walls to give a new interest and a new beauty.

Dr. J. M. Hubbard, who was called to Detroit on account of the illness of his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Amberg, returned home the latter part of last week, bringing with him his twin grandsons, William and Gus Amberg. Mrs. Amberg is greatly improved and will return home as soon as she is able to travel.

How Logansport Was Named.

Among the relics preserved at Terre Haute, Ind., is a target rifle that was, it is said, the means of giving Logansport its name. The story is that a number of frontiersmen, being unable otherwise to reach a decision in the matter, decided to shoot at a target to determine what name should prevail. The marksman who proposed Logansport hit the bull's-eye.

EVERY DAY GOOD THINGS.

After the cool fall days have come, we turn to the succulent oyster which has not been so often on the menu.

Oyster Stew.—Put a pint of oysters in a colander and pour over them one-fourth of a cupful of water. Pick them over in the fingers carefully to remove any bits of shell and place the oysters in a stewpan. Heat three cupfuls of milk over hot water; strain into it the liquor from the oyster, add the oysters and cook until the edges curl and they are plump; season with one-half teaspoonful of salt, and a few dashes of pepper, add three tablespoonfuls of butter to the hot milk and bring to the boiling point; serve at once. Over-cooking of oysters toughens them and ruins the flavor.

Meat Pie.—Use any cold-cooked meat except salted meat. Cut in small pieces, put into a baking dish and cover with a slightly thickened and seasoned gravy. Place over the heat while the crust is being prepared. To a pint of sifted flour add four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix thoroughly and work in three tablespoonfuls of butter. Add three-fourths of a cupful of milk or enough to make a soft dough. Spread this over the meat and bake in a hot oven until the crust is well done and browned on top.

Create Croquettes.—Mix one cupful of beef from the top of the round or the end of a porterhouse steak, finely chopped with one-third of a cupful of uncooked rice. Season with two-thirds of a teaspoonful of salt, a little cayenne and white pepper. Mix well and add a heaping tablespoonful of this mixture in cabbage leaves that have been parboiled two minutes. Simmer one hour in tomato sauce.

THE COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

IS OLD BETTY COMFORTABLY HOUSED?

Eggs are worth 50c per dozen now. Are you selling any? A dozen eggs are worth more than a bushel of corn and a bushel of corn combined with a little tankage or milk or a little shorts will make a good many dozen eggs. Don't you think this is a good way to market your corn?

Feeding and housing are all important for winter eggs. What about your poultry house. Is it warm. Is it well ventilated. Is it well lighted? These are essential. If your housing conditions are not right can't you make it so by building a new model house or repairing your old one. A few eggs at the present price will soon pay for a house. Good comfortable housing is absolutely necessary for winter eggs.

A Good Laying Ration.
For The Grain Mixture—Equal parts by weight of corn and oats. Feed 1-3 of grain ration in the morning and 2-3 at night.

For the Dry Mash—One part tankage or meat scrap and 5 parts shorts or shipstuffs. Keep this mash before the chicks at all times. House and feed old betty properly and she will do the rest.

WONDERLAND.

Sweet eyes by sorrow still unwept,
To you the world is radiant yet,
A palace hall of splendid truth
Touched by the golden blaze of youth,
Where hopes and joys are ever rife
Amid the mystery of life,
And seeking all to understand,
The world to you is Wonderland.

I turn and watch the unshed tears
The furrowed track of ended years;
I see the eager hopes that wane,
The joys that die in deathlike pain,
The coward faith that falsehood shake,
The souls that faint, the hearts that break,
The Truth by vivid life beamed,
The Right denied, the wrong enthroned—
And, striving still to understand,
The world to me is Wonderland.

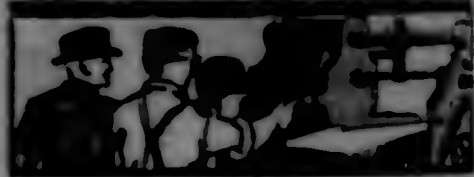

A little time, then by and by
The puzzled thought itself shall die,
When, like the throbs of distant drums,
The call inevitable comes
To blurring brain and weary limb,
And when the aching eyes grow dim,
And fast the gathering shadows creep
To lull the drowsy sense asleep,
We two shall slumber hand in hand
To wake, perhaps, in Wonderland.

SUMMER HOTEL ON WHEELS

Ingenious Idea Will Be Appreciated by Those Who Are Fond of an Outdoor Life.

It is a vehicle of light weight and apparently simple construction that is hauled over the roads behind an automobile. The inventor, Charles E. Hancock, of Liberal, Kan., calls it a sleeper trailer.

At its corners are four hollow posts, into which smaller posts are telescoped in such a way that by turning a crank (which operates a cable on a drum) the frame holding the canvas roof can be elevated to double its ordinary height.

The sides thereupon swing outward provide two wide beds, which at night are covered and concealed from view by canvas flaps suitably buttoned on.

Traveling Hotel.

Then the trailer affords sleeping quarters for four persons, with advantage of perfect privacy.

The affair is in short a good-sized bedroom, on two wheels, expanding vertically and laterally when wanted for sleeping use, and in the morning readily collapsed by lowering the top to half-height and folding the pair of double beds inward. At each end (for ventilation) is a screened door, the upper half of which folds over horizontally and out of the way when the canvas roof is lowered.

The door at the rear end opens up on a step, for entrance or exit. Four stout foldable legs support the trailer at night. A particular object sought in compactness, in order that the vehicle, reduced to smallest possible compass, shall pass over mountain roads without suffering injury from roots of trees or other such obstructions.

The object of elevating the canvas roof is to afford plenty of head room. The canvas tower protects the occupants when seeking refuge in the trailer in stormy weather.

Persons are not allowed to sleep in Norway.

WAITING ON LANDOWNERS.

Reports from Paducah say that unless abutting land owners on the Clark River Ferry Road, donate the necessary property to make the right-of-way 60 feet wide, work on the highway as a part of the Ohio River route may be abandoned. N. E. Stone and Company, of Madisonville have the contract, and the contractors are on the scene. Abutting land owners will meet Monday at the courthouse in Paducah to determine what course will be followed. County officials say that they will not consider the payment of money for the necessary land as they deem the improved highway of sufficient value to the property owners.

Ministerial Dignity Sacrificed.
The heat melted ministerial dignity when more than 100 clergymen, in attendance at a midsummer conference at the Union Theological seminary, in New York, discarded their coats and discussed problems in their shirt-sleeves. Rev. Dr. Harry Sloane Coffin, of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, started it by saying: "If 50 per cent of you fellows will take off your coats, I'll take mine off, too." The response was 100 per cent.

CARING FOR GROWING CHICKS

Essentials to Best Growth Are Good Coops, Cleanliness, Food, Water and Free Range.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The care of growing chicks, especially during warm weather, is most important, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Every boy or girl member of a poultry club should give them the best of attention if success is to be had. The baby chicks may be smart little fellows from strong, vigorous parent stock, and they may have been brooded carefully for the first two or three weeks, but unless they receive proper care and management during their later growing period they will not develop properly, and many of them will be lost through disease or sickness. The chief essentials to proper growth are good coops or houses, cleanliness, proper feed and water, shade, and free range.

Every coop or poultry house used for growing chicks should be kept clean at all times. Sickness or disease usually is in unclean quarters, and in such places lice and mites are al-say that in addition to the green feed and dry mash, which should be provided regularly, a grain mixture should be fed night and morning, giving as large a quantity as the chicks will eat clean, but no more. A good grain mixture for growing chicks consists of three parts cracked corn, two parts wheat, and two parts hulled oats. When available, kafir or rolled or fluted barley may be substituted for hulled oats. In localities where hulled oats, kafir, or rolled barley cannot be obtained, or are too expensive, a mixture of cracked corn and wheat only may be fed until the chicks are old enough to eat whole oats, when two parts may be added to the corn and wheat mixture.

A reasonable supply of fresh green feed is almost as necessary as grain for growing chicks. If allowed liberty they will get much of it for themselves, but if confined, or if in quarters where green feed is not abundant, it should be supplied regularly. Lawn grass, beet tops, cabbage and lettuce are excellent feeds. When chicks are confined to brood coops with runs, they should be placed on ground where the grass is green and tender, and as fast as it is eaten off, the coop and run should be moved to a place where the grass is plentiful.

In addition to green feeds and grain, dry mash should be kept before growing chicks at all times after they are three or four weeks old. It is best to feed it in a hopper inside the building, or where it will not be exposed to rain or wet. Here is a good dry mash mixture: Two pounds corn meal, two pounds middlings, one pound oatmeal, two pounds wheat bran, one pound beef scrap and one-fourth pound charcoal. Grit and oyster shell also should be provided.

SMALL FLOCK IN BACK YARD

Two Hens for Each Member of Family Are Recommended as Best by Poultry Specialists.

The average novice can reasonably expect to get an average of at least 10 dozen eggs per hen per year from his small flock in the back yard. On the basis of two hens to each member of the family this will give 20 dozen eggs a year to each person, which amount is about halfway between the average of farm and city consumption. No backyard poultry keeper should be satisfied with less than this, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Every backyard poultry keeper should try to get as much more as possible. To provide an egg a day for each person, two hens would have to lay 180 eggs each a year.

In Florida the wedding service is always read in front of a hen.

ways more plentiful. Coops and houses should be cleaned and sprayed once a week, and clean shavings, chaff, and put on the floor. Examine the coops and houses often for lice and mites, and if found they should be got rid of at once by following the directions in Department Circular 16, Lice, and Cleanliness, which may be free, upon application to the director of publications, United States Department of Agriculture. A variety of feeds, with fresh, clean water is necessary if chicks are to grow properly. Perhaps the three necessities for rapid growth are feed, green feed and dry mash. KILLS SELF IN PADUCAH HOTEL

Salesman Found Dead with Letter to Wife in Hand.

Death resulting from drinking carbolide acid taken with suicidal intent was the substance of the verdict returned by the coroner's jury in Paducah Monday following the investigation of the finding of G. L. Siler, of Jackson, Tenn. In a hotel at Paducah.

Fully dressed the body of Siler was found on the fourth floor of the hotel. In his hand he held two stamped letters. One was addressed to his wife in Jackson. Sunday he had attended Sunday School and church services and the night before his suicide he appeared happy when he went to his home at the hotel. He had offices in Paducah representing a flour spar company. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

H. H. S. LOSES HARD BATTLE.

The Hickman "Hornets" stung once but not until the visitors had crossed their goal line three times. The Woodland eleven last Friday at the Mengel Park outwitted the local lads during the major part of the game. The Hickman offensive was powerless at times. The backfield was never able to gain consistently around the ends of their opponents. In the first half of the game the charging forwards of the Woodland team solved the double pass and threw the runner repeatedly for losses. Both sides resorted to end runs in which department the visitors proved superior.

In the opening period of play, the "Hornets" began a march down the field. For a time their shift formation puzzled their opponents. On the thirty yard line they lost the ball on downs and then the Woodland boys started a series of line bucks which finally resulted in their first tally. Impressed with spirit they came back again and before the whistle blew to end the half they had planted the ball a second time between the goal posts.

In the second half the Hickman warriors proved stronger on both offense and defense. They kept the ball alternating back and forth in midfield except once when Hifford on a trick play ran around end for a touchdown. With just five seconds to play, Jack Parham received a long pass from Cook and ran across the goal line for the local's lone score. Matson then kicked goal. Only in the latter part of the game did the Hickman boys meet any success by the aerial route.

CARD OF THANKS.

The members of the family wish to express jointly their sincere appreciation of the many kind acts and words of consolation from neighbors and friends during the accident and death of their loved one, Leslie Brice, and pray God's richest blessing upon each of you.

RICE-BARRETT.

Harold Rice and Miss Martha Barrett, two popular members of the young society circle of this city gave their friends a surprise Wednesday afternoon when they embarked upon the matrimonial sea together. They drove over to Union City where the ceremony was performed. The pastor of the Methodist Church of that city officiating.

After the ceremony they left for Ocala where they boarded an I. C. train for Memphis, there to spend a short honeymoon after which they will return to Hickman and make their home with the groom's mother, Mrs. A. O. Conners.

The bride the youngest daughter of H. C. Barrett and wife, is a charming young lady, who by her winning ways and bright disposition has made a large circle of friends in the city. She was a senior in the Hickman High School, having attended school in the morning of her wedding day.

The groom is a popular young man of this city, an industrious and affable nature indicating brilliant prospects for him. At present he is associated with C. H. Tate, as the representative in Fulton County of the K. H. Rust Ford Agency of Union City.

The Courier extends heartiest congratulations to the newlyweds and wishes them a long and happy married life.

Golf Ball Insurance Now.

The beginner at golf, although he may not be able to drive his ball very far, generally gets it into the rough sooner or later, and manages to lose a good many of the expensive little spheres.

At one of the country clubs near New York, says the Sun of that city, the caddy master is doing a nice little business insuring balls. For 50 cents he agrees to replace with balls in good condition any that are lost. His caddies are well trained and in most cases he comes out ahead, for he gives his patrons second-hand balls which have been found on the links and repainted. Their cost to him is practically nothing.

Greed Brought About Fish's Death.

While walking along the north shore of Horse Lake, British Columbia, a reader found two dead fish under curious circumstances, a ling about three feet long and a sucker about 13 inches long. The ling had tried to swallow the sucker head foremost, but the body of the latter was too thick for his throat and the stiff fin on the back of the sucker, acting like the barb of a fishhook, made it impossible for the ling to free himself.

Are We Living Off a Coal Bin?

Floyd W. Parsons writes in the World's Work.

From the time we rise until the day is done, we maintain an intimate association, either with coal itself or one of its by-products. The burning agent in our bread and the gas we take it with are from coal; so are the agents that tan our shoes and that vulcanize the rubber of our automobile tires. We are indebted to coal for the various forms of ammonia that go into fertilizing, refrigerating, electric batteries and household uses; for aspirin, salicylic acid and many other cures for common colds; for elements used in manufacturing insulating, coatings, photographic records and pipestems; for benzol, the best available fuel for automobile and internal-combustion engines; for food preservatives, mothballs and disinfectants. While coal furnishes us sulfuric acid and trinitrotoluol, it also carries locked in itself all of winter-green and the most delicate flavoring extracts and perfumes.

"Umslopogass."

Sir Rider Hagard has revealed to the world that that valiant warrior and strategist "Umslopogass" is not a mere creature of imagination. He was a Swazi chieftain of high and noble lineage, who had been a warrior before he took service under the British flag. Years after Sir Rider had enshrined the chief in fiction, the fact was mentioned to him, and Umslopogass expressed his delight that Lundanda (Sir Rider Hagard) had written a book to show that once there was a Zulu people with mighty kings. But who was "She" and where did "She" come from? Years ago it was suggested that Sir Rider got his inspiration from Moore's "Epilepsion"; he denied the allegation, but he never told her real origin. It is better so—"She" was spun of the web of mystery.

Man Wants But Little; But Woman—

Alice went with her brother, Ben, to see her first boxing exhibition. Through the entire set of preliminaries she sat with a blissful air of a regular boxing fan. Then when the main battle began she yelped with the best of them. In the seventh round of the battle there was a surprise in the form of a knockout. The crowd went wild. Alice cheered and cheered. After a time she and Ben pushed their way through the crowd to the street.

"Well, how did you like it?" Ben asked.

"It was wonderful!" Alice enthused. "But I never saw anyone get so dizzy. They ought at least have given one more round."

ROBBER TRAPPED WITH BOOTY

Treasure From Santa's Shrine, Stolen Last November, Recovered By Clever Police Work.

The historic thirteenth century treasure of St. Elizabeth of Hungary, which was stolen from the saint's shrine at Marburg last November has been recovered by the Marburg Times after having been buried in the back garden of a London suburb.

The recovery is due to the diligence of the Frankfurt police. Six men took part in the robbery last November, and five of them were arrested soon after. There was, however, no sign of the stolen treasure and the men obstinately denied all knowledge of it.

Eventually the police got up to the track of the sixth man, Karl Kellman. It was found that in the summer time he had been to London; he was watched, however, and on his return he was arrested. During his detention the inquiries of the detective led the police to believe that Kellman had hidden the treasure in England. It was assumed that if he were set free, he would probably get them. He was therefore let out on bail, at the same time he was kept under strict but secret surveillance by the police. On June 15 Kellman went to London to fetch the jewels and on his return a few days ago he was confronted at Cleve on the German Dutch frontier, where he was taken red-handed with the missing jewels and pearls, 174 in number hidden in his clothes.

SURELY HAD HUBBY TRAINED

Little Man Knew His Helpmeet's Whistle and, So to Speak, Governed Himself Accordingly.

The time was Saturday 5:30 p. m., the place, a hotel music room, the girl, a large, robust middle-aged woman.

Knocking up to one of the ushers in the foyer she excitedly cried: "Say, boy, I left my husband in here while I went shopping. Our car leaves in five minutes and he isn't out here. Don't want to buy a ticket; how can I get him?"

"We aren't allowed to page any one," replied the usher, "but if you describe him perhaps I can find him." The woman apparently did not hear a word he said.

"Do you care if I whistle for him?" she asked.

Thinking she was only joking he said: "Go to it."

Immediately a shrill and weird whistle startled the quiet audience.

A meek little man sitting well toward the front jumped as though shot, bolted up the aisle, appeared in the foyer and quickly ran to the wake of the robust woman who was rapidly making tracks for the entrance station. —Indianapolis News.

DAWSON AND MORRIS ARE HERE THIS WEEK

Visiting J. T. Stephens and Hunting on Reelfoot Lake.

Two distinguished citizens in the city this week are Charles I. Dawson, attorney general of Kentucky, and Jack Morris, attorney general of Tennessee. They are here by invitation of J. T. Stephens and wife, who arrived Tuesday morning. Stephens, Mr. Stephens motored with them from Louisville, where Mr. Dawson and Mr. Morris spent Tuesday and Wednesday last, hunting ducks and geese on the Reelfoot Lake. Mr. Stephens arrived Tuesday night and his guests remained on the lake until Wednesday morning. They went down the river this morning to some of the smaller lakes.

They had intended coming last winter to visit Mr. Stephens and hunt on Reelfoot Lake, but during the entire winter their attention was necessarily centered largely on the strikes at the coal mines, which will be resumed next week with nearly perpetual last winter, and therefore they were unable to get away from their official duties as attorneys general and assistant general attorneys to come down to the lake. Having postponed the hunting trip so long, they were anxious to find the time to come and they accepted the first opportunity that presented itself.

They said that according to the old saying that a rainy day was a "fine day for ducks," they seemed to be in luck this morning. Yesterday was also hot and ducks were scarce. During the day wind storm their boat turned over and they lost most of their ducks.

They are both old friends of Mr. Stephens and so are enjoying not only the hunt but the chance which their old friends for renewing old acquaintances with their host and his estimable wife. They intend to spend the rest of the week here and will return to Louisville from here.

A Great Artist.

Sir Henry Lytton had a short way with unobedient youths, who gushed over Gustave, Glorioso, Dandee da Volterra. "Do you seriously think," he would ask with his rasping drawl, "that any of these can compare with Mortadella da Bologna?" Some would fall into the trap and discourse on the glories of that great artist; others, more honest, would invite scorn by confessing ignorance of his work. It was only when they reached home that they discovered that "Mortadella" was a sausage. —Living Age.

FOUND OUT ALL ABOUT IT

Passer-By's Curiosity as to the Actions of Unfortunate Glazier Should Have Been Satisfied.

Gleazed and glassy were the glazier's eyes. Before him, on the sidewalk, in a thousand pieces, lay what had been a sheet of fine plate glass, destined for the drawing-room window of 10 Swell street.

But that drawing-room window would have to go windowless, for a piece of orange peel had caused his downfall, and the smashed and shattered fragments alone were left to tell the tale. Slowly he began to gather together the debris.

"Hello, my man!" inquired a passer-by, cheerily. "Dropped your glass?"

The glazier glanced at the speaker with a look of proud contempt.

"Does it look as if I'd dropped it, guv'nor?" he drawled out. "Fact is, I've got the jig-saw craze. What you see before you is a jig-saw puzzle, an' I'm just a-trying to fit in the pieces!"

PARROT A LIVELY PASSENGER

Offended at Restriction of Its Liberty, Bird Retaliated With Trick That Irritated Sailors.

Jack O'Brien, a big green parrot, was one of a consignment of 100 birds on the Booth liner Justin during a trip from Manaus, Brazil, 1,000 miles up the Amazon, which ended at this port yesterday, says the New York World.

Jack was made a pet by those on board, and he accumulated a whole bagful of tricks. One day when the vessel had headed north from Barbados, her last port of call, Jack took offense because one of the officers shoed him out of his room when the bird interfered with the making out of a report.

For a day Jack brooded, spending his time with the chief engineer. Early the next morning the parrot went to the cages of the other birds and liberated at least a score of them.

This caused consternation among the negroes of the crew, for parrots kept popping out at them from dark places and screeching in their ears when not expected. Finally all the birds were recaptured.

The officers were responsible for the story that Jack at 11:45 o'clock every night, when the watch was changed, would mount the bridge and shout out: "Change watch!"

SAYS CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of This Treacherous Drug May Start Trouble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.
